ALLEN receives Deloitte's Best Managed Companies label

Paris, June 24, 2024

ALLEN, a global player in engineering and IT services, has announced that it has been named one of 19 French companies to receive the 2024 label in Deloitte France's Best Managed Companies programme.

Rolling out in France for the first time in 2021, the "Best Managed Companies" label was founded over thirty years ago by Deloitte Canada. The programme is now present in over 46 countries, labelling a total of 1,300 companies worldwide, including 19 in France this year. Companies are assessed based on their long-term strategy, their talent management and innovation capacity, their CSR policy, as well as their governance and financial management. These criteria are used to measure a company's differentiating factors and its ability to meet current and future challenges.

ALLEN is one of 19 French companies to be awarded the Best Managed Companies label for 2024. "For this third edition in France, we are delighted to include ALLEN among the companies awarded our Best Managed Companies label of excellence," says Guillaume Detournignies, Deloitte Partner in charge of the Best Managed Companies France programme.

"Obtaining the Best Managed Companies label for the third year running recognises the exceptional commitment of all our teams and the results achieved in both financial and CSR terms. This recognition validates our solid and sustainable development strategy, supported by our culture of excellence, innovation and collective success," says Bruno Benoiel, Chief Operating Officer at ALLEN.
